

2020 PINOT NOIR REVIEWS

93 POINTS

Raspberry and black cherry, clove and toasty wood, damson plums and dried earth mineral scents. Firm textures on the palate, chalky tannins and acidity, contrasting core of fruit with flavours that reflect the nose, a light savoury dried herb layer adds further contrast and complexity. Oak flavours and mineral add depth and contrast. A great food pairing wine or on its own with best drinking from 2021 through 2026.

Cameron Douglas MS, camdouglassms.com, 5 May 2021

92 POINTS

This is such an approachable and ever-reliable Pinot Noir. A gravelly profile shines through. Dark plums, blackcurrants and dark cherries are flanked by dried herbs, cloves and shavings of dark chocolate. Like a Number 8 in rugby, this has the punch to do some heavy lifting but is nimble enough to show soft hands and quick feet like the backs. Tense tannins seize up on close before a long, fine spice finish. Delightful. Drink for five years+

Steve Leszczynski, Q Wine Reviews, 12 May 2021

92 POINTS

Intensely perfumed. Earthy notes with damson fruit, cinnamon stick and some herbiness, rich and concentrated.

International Wine Challenge (IWC), 12 May 2021

91+ POINTS

Alan Peters-Oswald is a delightful fella and astute winemaker doing good things to elevate the Nanny Goat wines. Here's a new release. Slight label tweaks too.

Supple, succulent, very bright and fresh feeling. Leads with tart cherry fruit characters, a good deal of crunch, drying cranberry tang and pucker, some dried herbs, a light dusting of pepper. Refreshing feel to taste, vivacious, lively and ripe along with sinewy tannin and heaps of tangy acidity. Strap in! Good with a light chill, better in a few years when things settle down.

Mike Bennie, The Wine Front, 16 May 2021